The Ivoryton Inn

just a minute's stroll from the Playhouse, has been closely associated with the theater from its very beginning a half century ago. At one time in the 1930s, it was the scene of Ivoryton Playhouse School seminars including one led by Carter Blake, Broadway Instructor, pictured below with students on the Inn's front lawn. Jean and Doug Neumann, the new proprietors, now have brought back the special ambiance and personal country charm for which the Inn was once famed. Visit the Ivory Key for an after-theater drink, sandwich or quiche in a simple and tasteful atmosphere or plan to spend a night or two in one of the Inn's comfortable New England-style rooms or suites. Luncheons featuring fresh soups, quiche, salads and open-faced sandwiches are now being served. The Ivoryton Inn, Ivoryton, Connecticut 06442 (203) 767-0422
